Video demonstrations will run on the Event days from approximately 9am-5pm Eastern Time. Scheduling will be done according to two factors. Posting Tips for Vendors:

- If you have not already joined the group – do that now. Here is a link to the group: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/volume.glse/> If you want to join as both your business page and as yourself, select to join as your page FIRST, and then come back and join as yourself. If you join as yourself first, it won't offer you the option to join as your page when you return. Just a weird Facebook quirk.
- If you are doing a Craft Along – film a short “commercial” for your project (1-2 minutes) and submit it by the details due date, and we will stitch it together into a Craft Along promotion video that we will release with the links for customers to get a better feel for what to order! You can also repost your video following the release of the promotional video to increase pre-orders!
- Create a graphic of your craft along or your presentation (or several different graphics!) and use these to promote your presentation!
- Post that craft along/presentation graphic beginning the “First Day to Post” on the schedule above for the event(s) in which you are participating on the VOLUME group (you'll need to join the group to be able to do this).
- If you have a “Craft Along” kit – you may also make a post about that kit on the day that the schedule will be released to help promote your demo and Craft Along.
- Posts on the Facebook Group are moderated. During event days, we will have a couple of staff monitoring to release posts quickly. Please don't panic if your post doesn't show up instantly, we'll be bumping back and forth checking on different things, and approving posts as quickly as we can. All moderation pre and post event is handled by one person, so there may be a bit more of a delay in approving posts.
- Between the “First day for posts” and “Show Special Announcement” dates, you can post teaser posts, but please do not post your actual show special until the Show Special Announcement has been made. Let's create some anticipation!! Also, please post and promote the event on your pages as well, because the more people that join the group, the greater number of possible customers for all! You can start promoting the event immediately! Feel free to borrow the graphics from our Facebook page or Instagram post to use in your promotions!
- Create a graphic of your show special (or create a few highlighting different parts of your show special, or using different colors, or featuring photos of your products...) and use that to promote your show special once the list is released!
- I recommend that at a minimum, you post your graphic on the “Show Specials Announced” date, after we've released the full list of show specials, and then again on both event days. You can post it more often than that if you wish! Comments and questions will keep your post near the top of the discussion when it's sorted as “Most Relevant” – so be sure to reply to comments and questions – as that will bump it back up, and prompt more comments and questions. For those vendors who are NOT doing video presentations – the number of posts you make will directly correlate to your sales.
- If your expiration date is later than the end of the event weekend, I recommend that you post your show special a couple more times following the event to remind people that the special is about to end.
- Use this opportunity to grow your Facebook Page for your business – invite people in your posts and replies to join your page, so that you can continue to communicate with them when each VOLUME event ends!

Tips for Vendors doing a LIVE or PreRecorded Video Presentation:

LIVE Videos

- PRACTICE ;-) Do a practice run of your LIVE video in a private group (perhaps for your staff) so that you can get used to manipulating the controls on your phone, and know that your presentation will fit within your scheduled time block. (We STRONGLY recommend that you practice this in a private group. We created a private group of staff to test out using the Facebook video features, so that we had a good understanding of how Facebook LIVE worked.)
- Watch a couple of videos that have some great tips on creating FB LIVE videos:
 - o <https://youtu.be/x7CZHtEfxDw> - This video is full of good information about how to start your LIVE, how to engage the customers from the outset of your video – and more!
 - o <https://youtu.be/wOHzWCusvLI> - How to fix mirror image – if your demo will have words on the pages, you will want to know how to make sure that those words aren't backwards during your live – this video shows you how to find and use those controls. If you want to film in landscape – you'll have to make sure you do not have the orientation locked on the device you are using – and be patient and wait for the live icons to move to the bottom of the screen while in landscape – that will show you that viewers will also see the video in landscape (wide).
- When it's time to start your LIVE – go into the VOLUME event – and start your live INSIDE the group (it's one of the options when you go to create a post in the group)

- DURING the LIVE, it can be helpful, though not required, if you have an additional staff person that can be monitoring and responding to comments. Some comments are actually questions about what you're doing that many others might be thinking, and a simple real-time answer can go a long way in boosting sales.
- When you finish your LIVE – click the blue POST button (this is important so that guests who are late to the event still have the opportunity to watch your video!)
- Following your LIVE, be sure to monitor the comments that have come up under your live, and answer questions and respond to comments!
- Please START your video presentation at your scheduled time, and end your presentation by the end of your scheduled time. You may remain on to answer questions past your scheduled time –but your demo should be completed during the scheduled time.

PreRecorded Videos

- After you have recorded your video – upload it to DropBox using the link we will send you prior to each event details deadline. PreRecorded Videos are due to me by the TUESDAY prior to the event dates.
- We will use OneStream to schedule and stream your prerecorded video as a LIVE video in the Facebook Group.
- Your prerecorded video CANNOT exceed your time – not even by a few seconds – this will interfere with our ability to schedule via OneStream!
- You should log on at your presentation time, and monitor and respond to comments on your LIVEstreaming pre-recorded video.
- Please do not delete your video from the cloud until AFTER it has aired. Once it has aired – it is stored on the Group Page – and you can delete to free up room for your next video!

ALL Videos

- We recommend that all videos are presented in LANDSCAPE format – your viewers will get the best view if you record with the picture WIDER than it is TALL. When you film in PORTRAIT – your image will be smaller, as both Facebook and YouTube will make your tall video short enough to fit inside the wide window and leave black space on either side.
- DURING your video – be sure to mention your show special, and give any special instructions about how to redeem that special (where to enter the code, etc.)
- We will be maintaining a dynamic blog post throughout the event and updating it with links to the videos after they have completed so that latecomers can still hop on and watch!
- If you have created a “craft along” kit for customers, and there are still some available for purchase – be sure to let viewers know how to order those if they didn't preorder.
